ECP says no UNDP officials were removed from polling stations

FIA seeks PAT chief's assets details from ECP The Nation 27th June, 2014

KP govt seems losing interest in holding LB polls The Nation 12th June, 2014

DETAILS

ISLAMABAD: The Election Commission of Pakistan (ECP) on Saturday belied the claims of PTI chief Imran Khan that a UNDP election result gathering project was halted after Nawaz Sharif's speech on May 11, 2013. According to the ECP, the record of all 69,802 polling stations was still available with the commission. Talking to The News, a senior official of the ECP who was involved in the data gathering process claimed that the UNDP project had nothing to do with the announcement of election results as it was an exercise aimed at data gathering for analysis and future reference. "We still have scanned result of each and every polling station of the country from all 849 constituencies and any political party can compare this with its own data collected through the party's political agents," said the official of the ECP. He said the Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaaf (PTI) chief's claims of rigging through data operators are totally based on a misconception about the automated system which was introduced for the first time in collaboration with United Nation Development Programme (UNDP). Speaking at a public rally in Bahawalpur on Friday, Imran Khan had said that soon after the "victory speech" of PML-N chief Nawaz Sharif, the data operators stopped sending computerized result copies to the ECP. According to Khan, the operators were told by the returning officers to slow down, and later handwritten results were sent to the ECP to manipulate results and cause the defeat of PTI candidates. "There is no truth in this claim. The system of computerised record keeping has nothing to do with the announcement of results as the returning officers did not need computer data to announce the result on the spot," said the ECP official. Under the project, he said, two computers along with scanners were provided to each of the 425 returning officers across Pakistan. "The automated system was an alternative arrangement for recording election results electronically. It has no bearing at all on the results as they were separately announced by the concerned returning officer according to election laws," he added. "These computers were operated by two IT professionals who scanned the result of each polling station (Form 14) and each constituency and sent it to the central database in ECP headquarters where it is still preserved for data analysis and further reference," he said. The ECP official said it is true that owing to internet problems in some areas, the central data base of the commission could not receive some scanned copies of results through the internet and the same were later received through USBs. "But the political parties had their own polling agents in each polling station. There is no question of rigging if all polling agents could bring the signed copy of the result of their respective polling station. Computer data collection could not impact the result collected through polling agents and announced by the returning officers," he said.

ISLAMABAD - In a new development, Federal Investigation Agency (FIA) probing cases of accumulation of assets and other financial crimes against chief of Pakistan Awami Tehreek (PAT) Dr Tahirul Qadri has asked the Election Commission of Pakistan (ECP) to provide details of assets of Dr Qadir and his party. It is apparent that FIA, the key investigation agency of the federal government working under the Ministry of Interior, has opened the cases of Dr Qadri under the directions of government to keep him silent for bringing a so-called revolution in the country by overthrowing the democratic setup. FIA is a letter written to the Election Commission of Pakistan has sought details about the assets and accounts of Dr Tahirul Qadri when he was elected MNA in 2002. Similarly, the agency has also sought details of assets of his party - PAT and the details of his income and expenditures. FIA has informed the commission that the agency was investigating the assets case of PAT chief Dr Tahirul Qadri and his party. Under the law, each parliamentarian and the political party have to submit his/its assets details before the commission. An official of FIA explained that the purpose of seeking assets details was to compare these with his existing assets and to see how much assets his party and he accumulated during this period and whether these would match with his/its sources of income. A senior officer of the Election Commission of Pakistan confirmed that they had received the FIA letter in this regard. Before the arrival of Dr Tahirul Qadri in Pakistan from Canada on June 23, FIA had opened a number of investigations against him and his educational; organizations that have the status of NGO. These cases include assets case, money laundering case and tax evasion case and cases were also opened against his educational institutions - Idara Minhajul Quran, Minhajul Quran Welfare Society etc for getting tax exemptions with the status of NGOs. FIA has also collected details from the airlines about international travelling of Dr Qadri and from Federal Board of Revenue (FBR) and banks about the financial transactions of his accounts as well as his educational institutions and the details of tax returns submitted. The agency has also gathered data from PEMRA and major advertising agencies about money spent by Dr Qadri for publicity campaign at the time of his arrival in Pakistan in 2013.

ISLAMABAD - The Khyber Pakhtunkhwa government seems to be losing interest in holding local bodies (LB) election, as so far it has neither made legislation ahead of introducing biometric machines nor floated international tenders for purchasing the required machinery to be used in the polling process. Well-informed official sources in Election Commission of Pakistan (ECP) and KP government told The Nation on Wednesday that Pakistan Tehrik-e-Insaf (PTI)-led provincial government was yet to make amendment in LG Act KP to give legal cover to the use of biometric machines in polling process. Moreover, the sources said, it will take four to six months in floating tenders for purchasing the machinery and then feeding voters' data into the biometric machines with the help of National Database and Registration Authority (Nadra), adding the provincial government had not taken any step for the initial preparations. The ECP on the other hand is surprised over the inordinate delay of KP government for not moving an inch on the legal and technical formalities required for LB polls although the PTI is hell bent on conducting elections only through biometric system. "The PTI wants use of biometric machines in only one tehsil of KP Ghazi tehsil in Haripur district - as pilot project. Why not in whole KPK? And if they want to introduce the thump verification system in only one area then why the provincial government is so late so far?" a source asked. A meeting held in ECP on April 29, that was attended by chief secretary KP, Nadra representatives and election authorities, had ended up with a note that KP government would introduce biometric machines in Ghazi tehsil only, allowing the ECP to conduct elections in rest of the province through conventional method. A source privy to the meeting said that KP government was supposed to make legislation through its provincial assembly as well as floating tenders for importing biometric machinery, however, so far the PTI-led government has not finalised anything. The election experts are of the view that internationally, the biometric machines had an error chance of 5 to 10 per cent while the electronic voting machines (EVMs) extensively used in several countries, including India, had minimum error chances. The PTI government in KP is also required to make legislation in case the biometric machines cannot verify thump impression of any registered voter and currently, the polling staff has no authority to deal with such situations as Nadra has already identified over 1.52 million voters in KP whose thumb impressions cannot be verified. The ECP and Nadra have also conveyed it to KP government that the biometric machines cannot verify thumbs coloured with Mehndi or infected with skin diseases for which the KP government has to legislate and give special powers to polling staff, which it has not done yet. While Sindh and Punjab governments have been given six months time to make legislation before holding LB polls in the provinces but they have not moved an inch in this regard. The KP government seems to be joining the other two provinces by sleeping over the required amendments. "I think no province is sincere to introduce LB polls. I thought PTI will be the first to empower people at grassroots level but the excuses and inordinate delay on part of KP government indicate that it too is not serious," an official in KP government remarked.

ISLAMABAD: Prime Minister Muhammad Nawaz Sharif on Tuesday asked the Speaker National Assembly to place the recommendations of electoral reforms committees constituted earlier before the National Assembly for approval. In a letter to the speaker, the PM said that in case the already prepared recommendations were not passed, the speaker should constitute a parliamentary committee on electoral reforms to prepare comprehensive recommendations to ensure free, fair and transparent elections in the country. In the letter, the PM said that the parliamentary committee may comprise representatives of political parties from both the treasury and opposition members in both houses. "It may consider the above reports and other proposals, recommendations and reports submitted to it by any party, organisation or person, including suggestions to amend the constitutional provisions relating to caretaker governments and the adoption of the latest technology currently available for holding elections. The committee may submit its final report to the Speaker within three months," he added. The PM wrote this letter as he was informed by Senator Muhammad Ishaq Dar, Minister for Finance, Revenue, Economic Affairs, Statistics and Privatisation, that the committee of both the National Assembly and Senate had done substantial work on electoral reforms during 2011 and 2012-13 respectively, culminating in the report of the Sub-Committee of the National Assembly's Standing Committee on Law, Justice & Parliamentary Affairs relating to Amendments in Electoral Laws (October, 2011) and report of the Senate Special Committee on Election Issues (February, 2013). "I am given to understand that apart from some minor amendments made through an act of parliament and certain proposals adopted by the Election Commission of Pakistan through exercise of its inherent powers/ administrative measures, legislation to give effect to the recommendations contained in the reports could not be enacted due to the expiry of the tenure of the National Assembly," he added. "Above proposal may be placed before the august National Assembly in the first instance, and if the House so approves, it may authorise you to constitute the parliamentary committee in consultation with the chairman Senate, he added

LAHORE - The PPP has put its weight behind the PTI over the issue of verification of thumb impression of voters in the four constituencies of Lahore as demanded by the latter. Senior PPP leader Mian Manzoor Ahmad Wattoo on Sunday came up with a vociferous statement on the issue urging the Election Commission of Pakistan to pay heed to PTI demands regarding early disposal of election petitions and the verification of thumb impressions in the four constituencies. "I fail to understand as to why the Election Commission of Pakistan is delaying the verification of thumb impressions of the voters in the four constituencies of Lahore as identified by the PTI Chief Imran Khan", he observed in a statement. Wattoo also stressed upon the ECP, judiciary and other relevant forums to pro-actively pursue the disposal of election complaints pending before the Election Tribunals almost more than a year. "The Election Tribunal is required to dispose off such complaints within three months of the elections according to the law", he maintained, also calling upon the ECP to address the complaints of Mrs Bushra Aitzaz and Chaudhry Manzoor Ahmed, who contested the National Assembly Elections held last year. "They have presented irrefutable proofs of the election irregularities in the respective constituencies", he observed. The PPP leader argued that fair, impartial and transparent elections held the key for the realisation of the Constitutional objectives and, therefore, it was of profound importance that the Election Commission of Pakistan, civil society, judiciary and the Parliament should work out a mechanism based on collective wisdom for holding transparent elections in absolute terms. He pointed out that the manipulated and engineered elections cut the very basis of democracy and undermined the aspirations of the people in a brazen way that could not be condoned on any pretext. While underscoring the importance of the continuity of the democratic process in the country, he said that the next transfer of power should also take place in accordance with the Constitution and best democratic practices as was implemented by the PPP last year. He said that the democratic system must not be derailed in the country because it was the only plausible hope to overcome the multiple challenges the country was embroiled in presently. He maintained that it was equally important that the democratic dispensation ensure good governance and provide relief to all and sundry. The adequate delivery of services to the people in the fields of education, health, transportation, administration of speedy and inexpensive justice and protection to their life and property would enhance their confidence in democracy in tandem with their aspirations, he said. He cautioned that if democracy failed to deliver in these accounts then the people would get disappointed that would not auger well for the country and its political system.

SC orders ET to hold verification of thumb impressions in NA-154 The News 7th June, 2014

ABBOTTABAD: The Pakistan Tehreek-i-Insaf's defeat in the recent PK-45, Abbottabad-IV byelection has exposed rifts in the party's local chapter. The PTI lost the election to the Pakistan Muslim League-Nawaz though PTI chief Imran Khan addressed four public meetings in the constituency and announced opening of six colleges in the area and the grant of tehsil status to Bakot, and the provincial chief minister announced the Rs1 billion development package for the Galayat region. Political observers insist the PTI, which rules the province, should take the defeat seriously as it shows the party is poorly managed and faces rifts. According to them, the PTI fielded a weak candidate for the by-election angering many of its local leaders, who later distanced themselves from the election campaign of Ali Asghar Khan. The observers believe anyone from among Abdur Rehman Abbasi, Raja Mubeen, Nazir Abbasi and Pir Azhar Bakoti could be a better choice. PK-45 is the hometown of PML-N leader and current Khyber Pakhtunkhwa Governor Sardar Mehtab Ahmad Khan, who had won elections of the provincial assembly seat for the constituency in 1985, 1988, 1990, 1993, 1997, 2008 and 2013 showing his strong vote bank. Sardar Mehtab also won the local National Assembly seat in 2008, 1997 and 1993 but lost the seat in the 2013 elections. He, however, won the provincial assembly seat and was made the opposition leader in the provincial assembly. The frontline PML-N leader, however, quit the seat after his nomination as the provincial governor. He had served the province as the chief minister and remained a federal minister. In the 2008 by-election, he surrendered the provincial assembly seat to retain the National Assembly seat. In the by-election, his son, Sardar Shamoon Mehtab, emerged as winner. In the recent by-election, Sardar Mehtab's cousin, Sardar Fareed, secured 28,252 votes to win the PK-45 seat against the 23,597 votes bagged by rival from PTI Ali Asghar Khan. The PML-N nominee, Sardar Fareed, got more votes than those secured by Sardar Mehtab during the 2013 elections showing the party has got stronger in the constituency. According to political observers, Ali Asghar Khan, the PTI vice president in the district, stood little chance of winning the by-election for having no stakes in PK-45 as he lives in PK-44 constituency consisting of Abbottabad city and runs NGOs. They insist the by-election results could have been different had PTI fielded old PTI guards, The observers say rivals successfully exploited the fielding of an 'outsider' in the by-election by the PTI during their campaigns. According to them, sitting PTI MNA from Abbottabad Dr Azhar Khan Jadoon had opposed the nomination of Ali Asghar Khan for PK-45 but his reservations were rejected by party chief Imran Khan. As a result, Dr Jadoon 'opted' to go out of the country to avoid participation in the party candidate's election campaign. During the byelection, the district and divisional administrations remained neutral by and large as there came no complaints of their interference in the electoral process.

ISLAMABAD: The Supreme Court on Friday vacated the stay orders of the Lahore High Court (LHC) regarding the verification of thumb impressions for the balloting in NA-154, Lodhran-I.The court directed the Election Tribunal (ET) to hold proceedings on daily basis for the verification of thumb impression in the constituency and file its findings before the court. The court issued these directions during the hearing of an election application filed by Jehangir Khan Tareen of Pakistan Tehrik-e-Insaf (PTI), the runner-up candidate in the 2013 elections against the Pakistan Muslim League (N) winning candidate. The case was heard by a three-member bench headed by Justice Anwar Zaheer Jamali. The PML-N candidate Siddique Baloch bagged 86,177 votes while his rival PTI's candidate Jehangir Khan Tarin got 75,955 votes in May 2013 elections. The PTI candidate moved an application for the verification of thumb impressions in NA-154; however the LHC issued a stay order in the case which was vacated by the apex court on Friday.

Reforming the election system

Published on 30th June, 2014

The News

There are a number of reasons to be suspicious about Tahirul Qadri and his talk of a peaceful revolution to empower the people. He is a Canadian national who lives abroad and descends on the Pakistani political scene occasionally for short but extravagantly funded performances whose main purpose is to put him at the centre of the political stage and to attract the maximum public and media attention to him. He is no doubt very adept at it and at rattling the government in power but he achieves little beyond generating some political heat. On his last trip to the country, he succeeded dramatically in electrifying the masses of the country. But, as he must have sensed himself, the reaction of the public on his current visit is one of detachment. The show that he had planned is over even before it had begun properly. The indifferent response of the public to Qadri's calls for a revolution has a lot to do with his person. While claiming to speak for the rights of the people of Pakistan, he has acquired the nationality of a western country and made that country his home. He rails, rightly, against dynastic politics and nepotism but the organisation that he has created to achieve his political ambitions is run by him as a family concern and spends much of its energies in promoting his personality cult. Also, the exotic religious garb that he sports for his public appearances has been carefully chosen to increase his mass appeal among the devout.

Yet, for all his shenanigans and theatrics, Qadri is right when he says that the governments and assemblies elected under the present system are unrepresentative of the people. The truth is that they serve mainly as bastions of corruption and privilege and as instruments for the oppression of the common man. If the people are to be rescued from their stranglehold, the first step must be a reform of the perverted election system that has brought them into power.

On his last visit to Pakistan, Qadri extracted a promise from the then government to make a few rather modest reforms in the election system. But during further negotiations, most of these concessions were whittled down, and at the implementation stage, they were virtually nullified, helped by the monumental incompetence of the Election Commission of Pakistan.

The result is to be seen in the composition of the assemblies elected last year, in which the same class of tax cheats, looters of public money and other species of parasites predominates once again. Their performance is also no different. In the recently passed budgets, the tax burden has again been placed squarely on the poorer sections of society, while the rich continue to enjoy generous exemptions and public expenditure on education and health remains abysmally low.

It is no wonder that most of the parties represented in the assemblies want a continuation of the present broken election system. One exception is the PTI, but it has focussed narrowly on vote-rigging in the last elections, rather than pushing for a comprehensive reform of the system. Ending election fraud is no doubt very important but the real challenge is to make those fundamental reforms that will ensure that our legislatures are truly representative of the different sections of society and their interests, instead of being controlled by a predatory ruling class interested mainly in perpetuating its own power and wealth.erlier this month, the prime minister wrote to the speaker of the National Assembly proposing the formation of a parliamentary committee to make recommendations on election reform. The letter was obviously prompted by the agitation launched by the PTI and the possibility of a tie-up between Imran and Qadri.

Following consultations on the issue between PML-N and PPP, the National Assembly unanimously adopted a resolution on June 19 on the establishment of a parliamentary committee as proposed by Nawaz. This step has been greeted by some as opening the way for genuine improvements in our election system. But if past experience is any guide, a great deal of scepticism is in order. A sub-committee of the National Assembly and a special committee of the Senate charged with amending the election laws were also set up by the last government. But the real purpose was to pre-empt possible moves by the Election Commission to introduce genuine election reforms. The recommendations of these efforts came to nought because of a lack of interest on the part of politicians of all parties.

There is also a judgement of the Supreme Court dating back to June 2012 (Workers' Party case) in which the court ruled that the first-past-the-post system (FPTP) adopted by Pakistan on the British model violates the principle of majority and directed that ways and means should be explored to replace it with an appropriate system "to ensure true representation of the people and rule of the majority".

Besides its other known defects, the FTPT system has two flaws that are specific to Pakistan. First, it tends to encourage and entrench the practice of voting on the lines of biradari rather than party programmes. Second, since this system skews the result in favour of the larger parties, the party which leads even by a small margin in its share of the votes cast in the Punjab province, which has more than half of the seats in the National Assembly, gets a big lead in the house as a whole and as a result a huge but unjustified advantage in the formation of the federal government.

This is exactly what happened in the 2013 election, in which the PML-N claims to have won a "heavy mandate". The party got 33 percent of the popular votes, mainly in Punjab but, because of the distortions produced by the FPTP system, it won 55 percent of the seats in the National Assembly, giving it a monopoly of power at the federal level. Under a system of proportional representation, it would have got about one-third of the seats, well short of a majority, and would have had to share power with coalition partners, including those primarily based in other provinces, something which would have been good for the country's federal system.

In its judgement in the Workers' Party case, the Supreme Court suggested the adoption of the system of run-off voting, in which a second round is held if no candidate gets a clear majority in the first round. In the second round, only the two candidates who received the highest votes in the first round are on the ballot paper. But this system also does not rule out oversized majorities disproportionate to the popular votes polled. Besides, a second round of voting can be cumbersome and tends to polarise voters, as we saw in the recent Afghan presidential election.

In addition to the proposal to discard FPTP, a number of other proposals have also been made for a reform of the election system. One measure that is long overdue is the introduction of direct elections for the Senate. The present system for filling seats of the upper house, as well as reserved seats in the National Assembly, is in fact not election in the true sense but selection by the party heads. It converts the upper house into a nominated chamber and the sooner it is consigned to the dustbin, the better. Two weeks ago, opposition leader Khursheed Shah mooted the idea that the term of the national and provincial assemblies should be reduced from five to four years. This is also a valuable suggestion.

The parliamentary committee on election reform must give serious consideration to all these proposals. It is also very important that this matter should be extensively debated in public and not be left to deal-making between the political parties behind closed doors as happened over the 18th Amendment. The three-month period given to the committee to complete its task is clearly insufficient.

The News

Before the 2008 elections and before BB's assassination, when the PPP and the PML-N were neck and neck in the opinion polls I said that it doesn't really matter who wins. Going by their track records and their inability to shed neither their embedded behavioural tendencies nor their often venal brand of petty politics, whichever party won was liable to mess up big time. In fact, I said, it was almost a guarantee that they would. But I still wanted elections and I still supported a civilian democratic setup.

Not that I'm an admirer of his but as Winston Churchill said, "No one pretends that democracy is perfect or all wise. Indeed, it has been said that democracy is the worst form of government, except for all the others that have been tried from time to time." Supporters of the sort of dispensation that has been in place for the majority of Pakistan's existence argue that the danda is what we need. However, the reality is that the danda has never actually been used to change the status quo for the betterment of the people (otherwise wouldn't we be in a different place then we are right now?).

Whichever tin-pot megalomaniac has been in power – no matter what intentions he may have first come to power with – eventually only uses the stick to justify and perpetuate his own existence. Nothing more. Clinging to power becomes his raison d'être and he starts allying himself with the worst of the worst to keep himself propped up. The result is that by the time the despot is ousted from power (usually after being master of all he surveyed for a period of a decade, give or take) the country is in a worse place than when he started and our musty, crumbling institutions have been even further weakened. This is inevitable in which all power flows to the top and there is no system of accountability.

The civilians then take over, constantly (and justifiably) looking over their shoulder while in so-called control, but in a blink of an eye they are gone, playing musical chairs at the whims of the powers that be till the sordid cycle starts all over again. Of course, the 'bloody civilians' don't help their own cause by their incompetence, their corruption, their parochialism, their insecurities, their what have you (take your pick, the list of weaknesses is lengthy by all accounts), but at least we have a chance of voting them out when given the chance. This is not an option we have with other sorts of dispensations. Again, say what you want about the Pakistani people not deserving the right to vote but their ballots have – by and large – reflected the general public sentiment in those elections, which have not been massively rigged or engineered. So I'll take democracy any time over any other sort of system.

However, for democracy to have any chance of success the process absolutely has to continue without the apple cart being constantly overturned by some impatient strongman waiting in the wings for his turn at the helm and egged on by short-sighted political players.

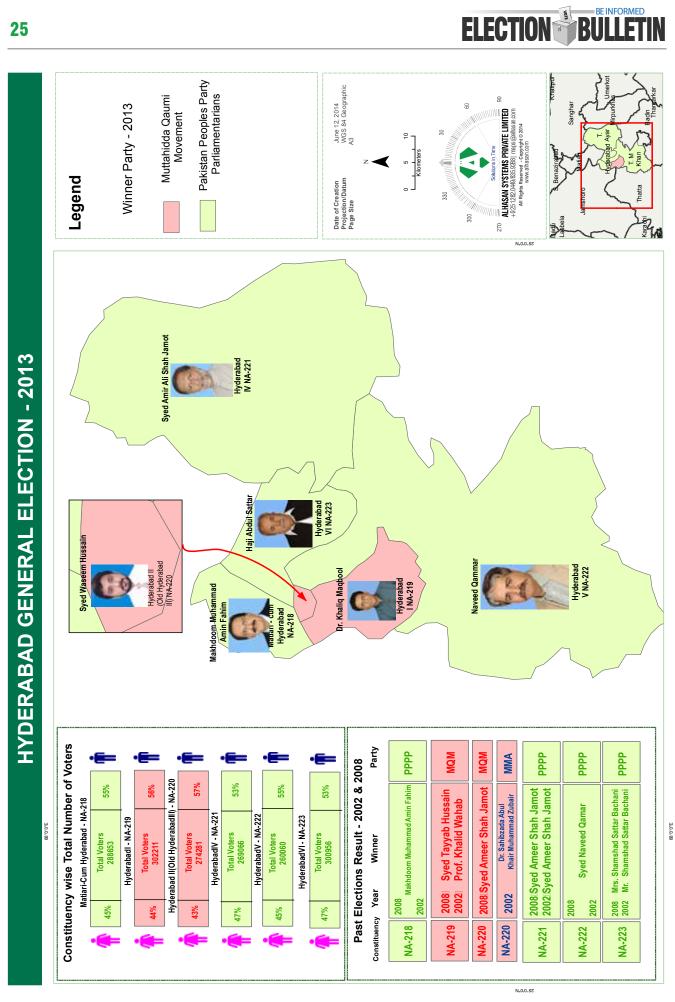

If the process continues, the system would mature as would the politicians because they would earn that to stay in power – and, ultimately, it is all about power, isn't it? – they have to perform and they have to take the long view instead of constantly looking for shortcuts (not to absolve them of responsibility but the shortcut mentality of the politicians can at least partially be explained by the skulduggery constantly at work in the background, aiming to undermine them). But maturity can only come with time.

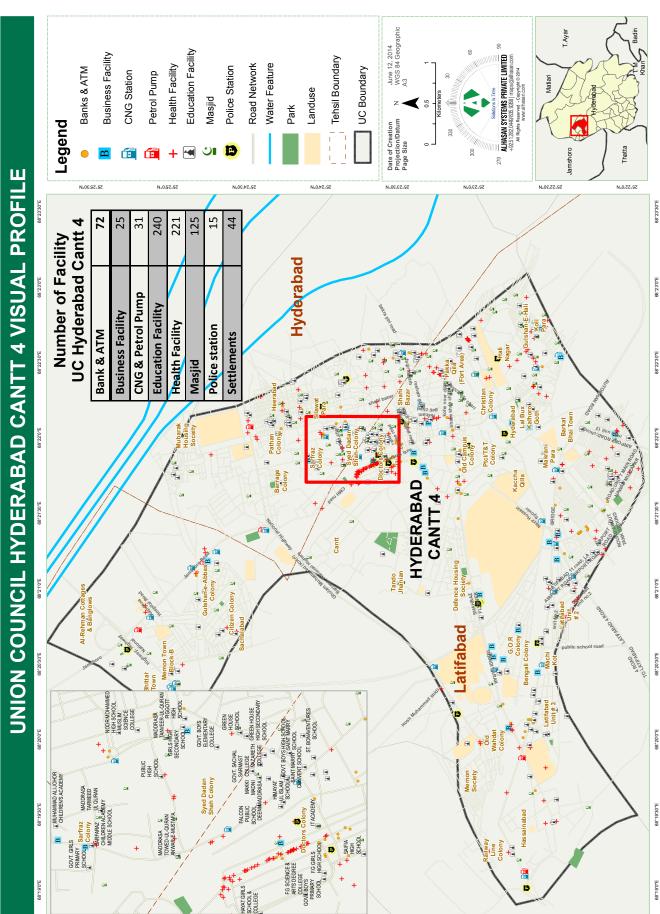

Going back to the 2008 elections. My theory was that whichever of the two main parties came to power would screw up. Massively. But as long as the process continued and the party in power completed its five-year term, the next elections would see it being shown the door. Of course, this was dependent on the elections being largely free and fair – expecting no rigging at this stage would be beyond naivety – but if that were to happen then the second main party would take over. And it would screw up too. Also massively, driven as it would be by the compulsions and demons of its leaders and an overwhelming need to make up for lost time in the accumulation of power and privilege and perks and, of course, capital. Just slightly less massively (if that makes sense) having seen the fate of its predecessor due to its incompetence.

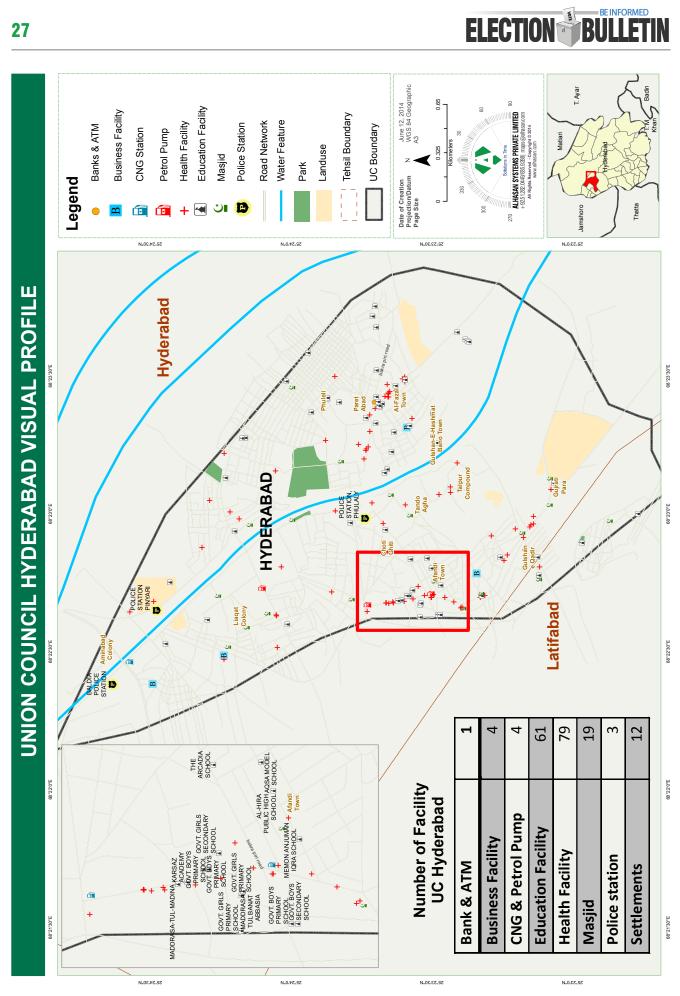

So the second party would also get booted out – again assuming largely free and fair elections – at the end of its five years marking either the triumphant return of a chastened and reformed first party or the emergence of a possible third option. Whichever party comes in at that point would be largely secure in the knowledge that they are likely to be there for the next five years and they would know that the only way to retain hold on power beyond that time is to show progress on all fronts – economic, social, infrastructure, security, political. It's at that point – a third successive election at the end of 10 years ie in 2018 – at which we would actually start to move forward.

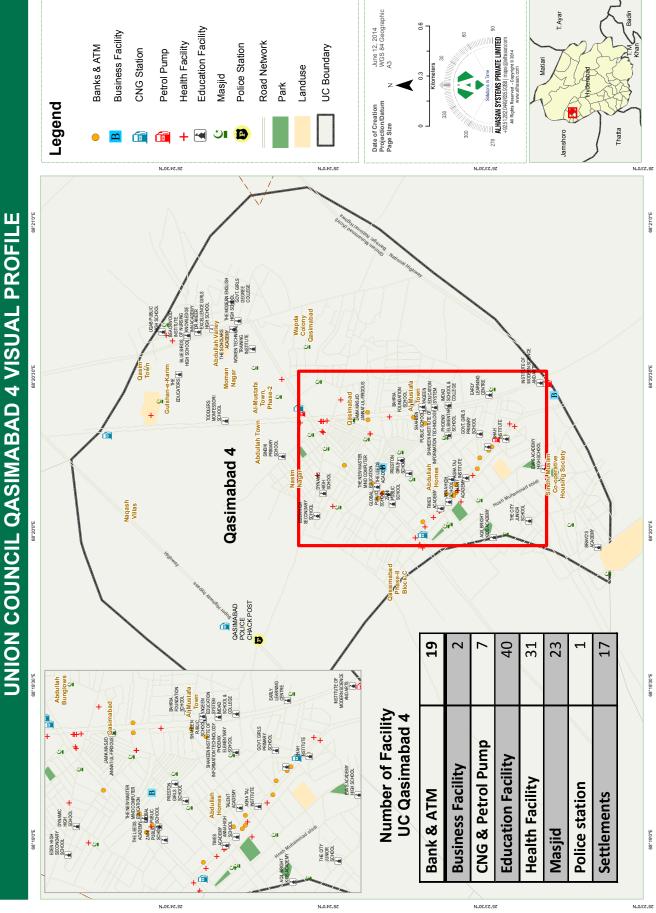

What have we got to lose? It's a ten year period that I'm talking about. The same approximate amount of time that we have suffered with each non-democratic dispensation in our history. During these periods we've actually always gone ten steps back – if not even more – from where we started (once even losing half a country in the process) and at the end of which we have to scramble to make up for lost time.

Here, we'll only lose a few steps perhaps because the nature of the process itself would ensure incremental gains (even if the participants are incompetent nitwits) and would ensure that the institutions are at least not diminished further, if not actually strengthened – which they are more likely to be, in my opinion. The politicians would have to grow up despite themselves. But this can only happen if democracy is allowed to flourish. For that reason we need to stop playing into the hands of bellicose charlatans, short-sighted politicians, and greedy opportunists who are intent on derailing the democratic process for their own personal gains.

رکارڈ ہے متعلق ووٹوں سے ہو بگ جٹس (ر) مزیر مغن کی موجود کی میں کھولے گئے تو صرف 69 بگ ایسے بتھے جن میں ووٹوں سے تعلق رکھنے والا ریکارڈ عمل قلہ 88 یکڑ کا ریکارڈ ناکمل تھا اور 158 یکڑ ایسے بنجن میں سے ایکشن کا سارا ریکارڈ انتخابی ختاجہ 252 (ووٹوں کے بکڑ) میں صرف 69 میکڑ کا ریکارڈ ماکمل تھا اور 256 یکڑ میں سے بر آمد ہونیوالا ریکارڈ انتخابی زمانی کے درست یا غلط ہونے کے بارے میں کوئی مدد ہی نہ کر سکتا ہو تو پھر اس حلقہ کے جعلی انتخابی نتائج کو کیے قبول کیا جا سکتا ہے۔ قومی اسبلی کے حلقہ 118 میں ڈالے گئے 169317 ووٹوں میں سے صرف 44972 ووٹوں کا ریکارڈ ایسا تھا جس کا جائزہ نادرا لے سکتا تھا اور یہ فیصلہ کر سکتا تھا کہ یہ ووٹ اصلی دوٹرز نے ڈالے تھے یا جعلی دوٹرز نے ڈالے تھے یا جلی دوٹرز نے ڈالے تھے ہ موجود جے ہیں۔ یہ سارا ریکارڈ غائب کر کے کس امیدوار کو فائدہ چنجایا گیا ہے۔اگر قومی اسبلی کے حلقہ 118 ہے جنتے والا امیدوار محمد ریاض ملک شفاف الیکش میں جیتا ہے اور کامیاب امیدوار کے سپورٹرز اور ووٹرز نے کوئی دھاندلی خیس کی قو ودلوں کا راپارڈ اور وہ بھی نوے ہزار ودلوں کے قریب غائب کیوں کیا گیا ہے۔جب قومی اسلمیل کے حلقہ 118 کے ودلوں کا رکپارڈ ادادا کے سامنے آیا تو اس راپکارڈ کا کمل جائزہ لینے کے بعد الیکش ٹر یو تل کے سامنے جو رپورٹ بیٹر کی گانی اس ریورٹ نے یہ ثابت کر دیا ہے کہ حلقہ 118 میں انیکش ہوئے ہی نہیں بلکہ جو کچھ ہوا اسے صرف جھرالو کا نام ہی دیا حا سکتا ہے ادرا کا کہنا ہے کہ جمیں الیکش ٹر بیوٹل نے ودنوں کا حاکزہ لینے کیلئے اور دوٹرز کے انگو ٹھوں کی تصدق کملنے جو رکارڈ بیجتا گیا اس کے مطابق ووٹوں کی لغداد صرف 46 بزار تقنی۔ ایک اکھ 69 بزار دوٹوں میں کیے تعریل ہو گیا۔ اے 46 بزار دوٹوں کی حقیقت حال تیج یہ ہے کہ اس میں بے 25 بزار دوٹوں کی کائرنٹر فائل ہے اظوشوں کی لفندتی بن ازراکسکے مکن نہ ہو تکی کیوں کہ انگوشوں نے نشانات کیلئے معادی سابق استعال نہ کی گئی۔4 ہزار ووٹوں کے مارے میں معلوم ہوا ہے کہ ایکے شاختی کارڈ بن جعلی تھے۔کاؤمٹر فائلز ہے صرف 15 ہزار آٹھ سو ووٹ ایسے تھے جن کے استعال کر نیوالوں کے انگوٹھوں کی اضدیق کی جا سم 🕰 میں جیشے دالے امیددار محہ ریاض ملک رکن قومی اسلم کے ووٹ ایک لاکھ 46 بزار ووٹ بنے میں لیکن نادرانے ریورٹ دی ہے کہ ہمیں ایکش ٹریو عل کی طرف سے صرف 46 ہزار دوٹوں کا ریکارڈ بیچا گیا۔ ظاہر ہے کہ تقریبا ایک لاکھ دوٹوں کی کاکونٹر غائلز خائب کر دی گئی میں نادرا صرف 15 ہزار دوٹوں کی تصدیق کر یائی ے کہ یہ اصلی دوٹرز نے اپنے دوٹ استعال کئے ہیں نادرا یہ فہیں بتا سکتا کہ ان 15 ہزار دوٹوں میں جامد زمان کے کتنے ہیں ادر رماض ملک کے کتنے دوٹ ہیں جلتہ 118 تقصیل سے حاکزہ لینے کے بعد اس تنجیر پر بینجا ہوں کہ مسلم لیگ ن ان چار قومی اسمبلی کے حلقوں میں انگو طوں کی لصدیق کے عمران خان کے مطالبہ کو کیوں تسلیم منیں کر دہا۔ مسلہ صرف چار حلقوں کا نہیں ہے۔اگر لاہور کے قومی اسمبلی کے حلقہ 118 کے دوٹوں کے تمام معاملات کو سامنے رکھا جائے تو تنتیجہ یہ ظاہر ہوتا ہے کہ مئی 2013ء میں یاکستان میں ہونے والے عام انتخابات ایک بہت بڑا فراڈ تھے۔حامد زمان کوئی سایک شخصیت خیمی میں لیکن ان کو یہ کریڈٹ جاتا ہے کہ عدالتوں میں ایک طویل جنگ لڑ کر انہوں نے منک 2013ء کے عام انتخابات کے چیرے حذاب الحاد دیا ہے۔اصل ظلم اور نا انسانی تو محوام کے ساتھ ہوئی ہے کہ ان کے حقیقی فیصلے کو تبدیل کر دیا گیا ہے۔اگر مسلم بلیک ن یہ دعوی کرتی ہے کہ قومی اسمبلی کا حلقہ 118 کی طرح باقی حلقوں میں ایسے محاملات نیس ہوئے تو پھر میاں نواز شریف صاحب کی بہ ذمہ داری ہے کہ وہ عمران خان کے مطالبہ کو کنلیم کر لیس اور اس کے ساتھ تحریک انصاف کے جینے والے قومی اسمبلی کے ارکان میں سے کسی چار حلقوں کو نتینے کر لیچے اور ان حلقوں میں مجمی انگو کھوں کی تصدیق کے لئے ریکارڈ نادرا کو بھیج دیا جائے تاکہ قوم کو معلوم ہو جائے کہ سیاست بل چی کون پول رہا ہے اور حبوٹ کا ذمہ دار کون ہے۔اور آخری بات سے کہ سیاست دانوں کے ساتھ ان ریٹر نظ افسرول اور الیکش کمیشن کے عہدیداروں کا بھی سخت محاسبہ کیا جانا چاہئیے جو عام انتخابات میں پاکستان کی سیاس تاریخ کی بدترین دھاندلی کے ذمہ دار ہیں۔
